"She ran alongside me and pried a vase out of my hand, too ignorant to understand the system of counterbalances I was using. One was slipping now, thanks to her help, and I let her catch it, which she did not."

— The First Bad Man, page 12

Assorted pieces packaged with excerpt; authenticity verified with Miranda July’s signature.